THE VIBRANT APPEAL OF AMERICA'S OLDEST,
BIGGEST, AND MOST HISTORIC CITIES

New York City, New York

NEW YORK CITY

New Yorkers believe their city is the greatest in the world, and it may be true, considering the sheer number of things to do, see, hear, taste, experience, and, ultimately, remember.

- Get up-close and personal with many of history's most venerated artworks and artifacts at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, Museum of Modern Art, The Guggenheim, the Cloisters, and the New York Historical Society.
- Hit the streets to explore the unique neighborhood micro-cultures and vibes of Greenwich Village, the Upper West Side, Upper East Side, Soho, Chelsea, Harlem, Tribeca, and Times Square.
- Check out the most famous buildings in America, like the Empire State Building, Rockefeller Center, the Flatiron Building, the Chrysler Building, St. Patrick's Cathedral, Grand Central Terminal, and the Freedom Tower.
- Wander the city parks and green spaces such as Central Park, Flushing Meadows-Corona, Washington Square, the High Line, and Fort Tryon.
- Snap great pictures of icons like the Statue of Liberty, the big bridges (Brooklyn, George Washington, Verrazano-Narrows), Staten Island Ferry, Yankee Stadium, the Unisphere, and Rockefeller Plaza.

You can enjoy pretty much any kind or style of food, at almost any time of day, from an anonymous sidewalk hot dog cart to the most exclusive gourmet restaurants in the world – where you'll most definitely need to make reservations in advance.

BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS

Cradle of the American Revolution, Boston has taken great care to preserve historical places and landmarks such as the Paul Revere House, Boston Common, Old North Church, Faneuil Hall, and the USS Constitution, among many other sites.

- Sit down and eat: Boston has long been known for great seafood and talented chefs who know what to do with it. Dig into shore dinners, clambakes, lobster rolls, oysters, clam chowder, steamed clams and lobster, and shrimp done up a hundred different ways.

Liberty Bell, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

- Visit the stunning and expansive Museum of Fine Arts.
- Tour the Samuel Adams® Brewery.
- Take a “backstage” tour of Fenway Park.

PHILADELPHIA, PENNSYLVANIA

The crucible of American freedom, Philadelphia houses the most historic square mile in America – Independence Hall National Historic Park. Within this park, the artifacts and architecture of the early history of the United States are preserved.

- Visit the Liberty Bell Center, across from Independence Hall, where the Liberty Bell remains a symbol of freedom worldwide.
- Balance the past with the present by exploring Rittenhouse Square and the Reading Terminal's eateries and markets.
- Stroll past the historic homes of Society Hill and into hip South Street just beyond.

WASHINGTON, DC

The compactness of Washington, DC encourages the walking visitor. The White House, the Capitol building, the National Mall, the Lincoln Memorial, Jefferson Memorial, Franklin D. Roosevelt Memorial, Washington Monument, Vietnam Veterans Memorial, Korean War Veterans Memorial, and the National World War II Memorial are just a few of the many attractions within a two-mile radius.

- Don't miss the Smithsonian Institution, the world's largest museum complex, composed of 19 museums and the National Zoo.
- Join a tour that takes you to DC's most famous monuments after dark, when the lighting is awesomely dramatic.
- Pay your respects to those who gave all for our freedoms at Arlington National Cemetery, a deeply moving site.

CROSS COUNTRY ROAD TRIP

I-80, NEW YORK METRO AREA TO SAN FRANCISCO

Napa Valley, California

Explore our country from sea to shining sea on a cross-country road trip along perhaps its most famous road, Interstate 80. From the Big Apple to San Francisco, this journey through the Old Red, White, and Blue is pure gold.

SUGGESTED ITINERARY

14 Days / 13 Nights (at your leisure)

Starting Point — New York City Take a bite out of the Big Apple, since this exciting city is a melting pot of flavors. With your stomach full, see the iconic sights — Top of the Rock Observatory at Rockefeller Center, One World Observatory at the Freedom Tower, or the highest open-air observatory in New York City at the Empire State Building. Catch your breath walking through Central Park, and see a show on Broadway.

Then, hit the road. Take Interstate 95 across the George Washington Bridge, and meet up with Interstate 80 for your cross-country adventure.

Cleveland, OH Visit the Rock & Roll Hall of Fame; in true hard rock fashion, it's open 365 days a year. Afterwards, stop by A Christmas Story House, setting for the beloved 1983 holiday classic. Walk on the wild side at the Cleveland Metroparks Zoo, complete with a simulated rainforest.

Chicago, IL Zoom up 103 floors to the SkyDeck of the Willis Tower (formerly the Sears Tower) and stand on The Ledge, a glass enclosure that extends four feet over the edge. Explore the Magnificent Mile, where you'll find luxury shops as well as famous structures like the Chicago Water Tower, Wrigley Building, and Tribune Tower. Stop by Cloud Gate, also known as "The Bean," to take an iconic selfie to share. Of course, you can't leave Chicago until you've tasted its famous deep-dish pizza.

Wyoming Not a quick jaunt from Route 80 — almost 4.5 hours — but the detour to Yellowstone National Park is worth it. This is America's first national park, and as such, it holds natural treasures such as the famous geyser Old Faithful, one of 500 in the park.

Salt Lake City, UT At Utah Olympic Park, less than 30 minutes from the city center, marvel at the highest-altitude ski jumps in the world, try one of the adventure courses, or even zoom down the Olympic Sliding Track in a bobsled (with a seasoned pilot, of course).

Reno, NV "The Biggest Little City in the World" truly has an eclectic range of activities. The casino district has been a staple of the city for decades and must-visit for every high-stakes visitor. For a relaxing stroll or an outing with the family, hit the Riverwalk area with galleries, gourmet restaurants, and local boutiques.

Ending Point — San Francisco, CA Finish up your coast-to-coast road trip with a jaunt through California's wine country, Napa Valley. Stop at one of the 400 wineries, known especially for premier Cabernet Sauvignon, and savor the upscale luxury of pampering spas, scrumptious delights, and relaxing retreats. Then, head off into the bustling metropolis of San Francisco, where you absolutely must see the iconic Golden Gate Bridge and historic Alcatraz Island, and drive down Lombard Street, known as "the crookedest street in the world."

Lincoln Memorial, Washington, D.C.

Make your way south on one of the truest and most comprehensive explorations of our nation's history. Hit three cities bursting with Americana and history — from the East Coast, to the capital, and on into Virginia.

SUGGESTED ITINERARY

8 Days / 7 Nights

Days 1–2 Philadelphia Arrive in Philadelphia and grab yourself that first cheesesteak to kick things off! Take a walking tour through the highlights of history and see Independence Hall as well as all the other historical sites. Take the kids to the Franklin Institute for some amazing science experiments or climb the famous steps from the movie Rocky at the Philadelphia Museum of Art. Head to Rittenhouse Square for the evening for an upscale dining experience at a local eatery. If you want to meet some die-hard sports fans, this is also the city to do that. Catch a game, whether the Eagles, Phillies, 76ers, or Flyers — it will be a fun (and intense!) experience. Hit some bustling and tasty markets as well, like the Reading Terminal Market, an absolute delight for all the senses.

Days 3–4 Washington, D.C. Home to iconic US history, Washington, D.C. is the nation's capital, the ideal mid-way stop on such an informative American road trip! Take the D.C. In A Day Tour, which your travel consultant booked for you, to really immerse yourself in our nation's story with a knowledgeable guide, and spend time at the Smithsonian, the Capitol Building, and the Washington Monument. You can also view these stunning landmarks at dusk with the Monuments by Night tour. Grab dinner and a drink at DuPont Circle and a fresh doughnut at one of the city's famous shops. Though this stop will be packed with history, it's also one of the most modern and bustling of all American cities. Hit the town for nightlife and especially for the great restaurants — it's a foodie's dream!

Days 5–8 Williamsburg Colonial Williamsburg is more than history — it's history come to life. Step foot in an 18th-century town to speak with the artisans and tradespeople, and explore the historic buildings. Afterwards, stop by Historic Jamestown, the first permanent English settlement in America. After your fill of history, enjoy a day at Busch Gardens for theme park fun, acclaimed as one of the most beautiful theme parks in the world, complete with European charm. If you're looking for a relaxing afternoon, retreat to a nearby winery on the Colonial Virginia Wine Trail for an expertly paired dinner and drink.

Have more time? Drive to Shenandoah National Park via Skyline Drive. This wilderness is a hiker's paradise with more than 500 miles of marked trails, including 101 miles along the Appalachian Trail. After driving from Philadelphia to Virginia, stretch those legs and see the natural beauty of this stunning national park before finishing up this historical adventure in Richmond.

MIDWEST

THE MAJESTIC, TRUE HEART OF THE NATION'S CULTURE AND HOSPITALITY

Chicago, Illinois

The Rock and Roll Hall of Fame and Museum, Cleveland, Ohio

CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

Everything is big in Chicago, from towering skyscrapers to voluminous Lake Michigan and the city's wildly diverse range of entertainment. Long known as America's "Second City," this bustling metropolis has the capacity to overwhelm. So breathe in, steel yourself, and experience Chicago like a local – with a hot dog in hand and a spring in your step.

- Groove to late-night jazz, blues, and rock at one of Chicago's numerous music venues.
- Spot outrageous outside works by Picasso, Calder, Oldenburg, and Chagall on the streets throughout downtown Chicago.
- Join a cruise on the Chicago River to spot architectural gems like the Willis Tower (a/k/a Sears Tower), John Hancock Center, Wrigley Building, and Aon Center.

Diet-conscious diners beware: Chicago meal portions are huge. If you're looking for gastronomic gluttony, you can't turn down classic deep-dish pizza, a genuine Chicago hot dog with all the trimmings, and an authentic, dripping Italian beef sandwich. And there's no shortage of Michelin-starred eateries in town, including a few three-star gems.

CLEVELAND, OHIO

Perched on the shores of Lake Erie and the Cuyahoga River, Cleveland has experienced a resurgence in popularity with tourists who can explore cultural attractions and historical landmarks from the city's legacy as a major manufacturing center.

- Visit the Rock & Roll Hall of Fame, which, in true hard rock fashion, is open 365 days a year.
- Revisit your childhood – and Ralphie's – at A Christmas Story House in the Tremont neighborhood, the setting for the beloved 1983 holiday classic movie.
- Walk on the wild side at the Cleveland Metroparks Zoo, complete with a simulated rainforest.

Gateway Arch, St. Louis, Missouri

ST. LOUIS, MISSOURI

Curving against the St. Louis skyline, the iconic Gateway Arch is no doubt the focal point of Missouri's largest city, not to mention a monument to the westward expansion of the United States. Standing proud beneath the arch, the vibrant city of St. Louis is credited with creating some of the biggest stars in jazz and blues music, establishing leading universities, and fostering an excellent museum, food, and arts scene.

- What better way to take in gorgeous views of St. Louis than from 630 feet up the iconic Gateway Arch?
- Stop by the St. Louis Zoo, regarded as one of America's best, and the Mildred Lane Kemper Art Museum, the oldest art museum west of the Mississippi.
- Take a free tour of the Anheuser-Busch Brewery, meet the famous Clydesdale horses, and enjoy a free sample of America's best-selling brew.

RAPID CITY, SOUTH DAKOTA

Rapid City is a convenient base camp for exploring in and around the Black Hills area, including nearby Mount Rushmore and Badlands National Park.

Mount Rushmore National Memorial is one of America's most recognizable sights, and almost needs no introduction. This awesome artistic achievement is best viewed from the Lincoln Borglum Visitor Center and the Grand View Terrace.

When visiting Rapid City:

- Ramble through the Rapid City Historic District and see 19th and early 20th century structures like the First National Bank Building and the 1911 Lions Head Fountain.
- Hop on (and off) the City View Trolley while enjoying a narrated tour of Rapid City's attractions, such as the Journey Museum, Storybook Island, and Dinosaur Park.

Named “The Mother Road,” Route 66 may well be the most significant strip of highway in American history. This iconic motorway was even the inspiration for a catchy Top 40 song of the same name.

SUGGESTED ITINERARY

14 Days / 13 Nights (at your leisure)

Chicago, IL Kick off your Route 66 road trip in the Windy City, and take a tour that introduces you to the Second City's highlights — the Loop, Wrigley Field, the Magnificent Mile, Millennium Park, Shedd Aquarium, Lake Shore Drive, and South Shore Drive. Afterwards, enjoy a Chicago-style pizza at one of Downtown's popular pizza restaurants. Depart via Illinois Route 66 South.

St. Louis, MO What better way to take in gorgeous views of St. Louis than from 630 feet up the iconic Gateway Arch? Stop by the St. Louis Zoo, regarded as one of America's best, and the Mildred Lane Kemper Art Museum, the oldest art museum west of the Mississippi. Take a free tour of the Anheuser-Busch Brewery, meet the famous Clydesdale horses, and enjoy a free sample of America's best-selling brew. Pick up a treat at the original Ted Drewes Frozen Custard on Chippewa Street (originally Route 66) on your way out of town.

Tulsa, OK Entering Oklahoma, the state with the longest stretch of Route 66, you'll pass several vintage gas stations now restored to their original unique designs, and such oddities as Totem Pole Park, which boasts the world's largest concrete totem pole. Upon reaching Tulsa, a haven of Southern comfort and cosmopolitan style, you'll see some great Art Deco architecture, too. Get acquainted with Oklahoma barbecue at mainstays like Rib Crib, Elmer's BBQ, and Albert G's (set in an old gas station). Minor detours lead you to Westhope, a 1929 Frank Lloyd Wright house, and the Woody Guthrie Center, dedicated to preserving the songwriter's enduring body of work and celebrating his life and legacy.

Oklahoma City, OK Further along Route 66, Oklahoma's state capital brings surprises such as the city's “Little Saigon,” where you can stop for some superb pho, or wait until you reach Tucker's Onion Burgers for classic American fare. Also, check out the Gold Dome, a 1958 geodesic dome originally housing a bank — you can't miss it.

Albuquerque, NM In New Mexico's largest city, you'll find multiculturalism, natural beauty, ancient attractions, spectacular climate, museums, galleries, and shopping. You don't need to leave the route to explore the Bernalillo-South Fourth Street Historic District near downtown, as well as the Moderne-style Nob Hill Shopping Center, New Mexico's first drive-in shopping center.

Flagstaff, AZ Stroll through the city's Railroad Addition Historic District, cited on the National Register of Historic Places, which runs parallel to both Route 66 and the railroad tracks. Take a tour of Lowell Observatory, where astronomers discovered the former planet Pluto, and peer through the 24-inch Clark telescope. Take the ultimate Route 66 detour and head north approximately 80 miles to Grand Canyon National Park.

Santa Monica, CA Follow Route 66 into Los Angeles along either of its previous layouts: the Pasadena Freeway, Figueroa Street, or Sunset Boulevard to Santa Monica Boulevard, and wind up your odyssey at the shores of the Pacific Ocean. While in LA, see movie stars' homes in Beverly Hills, lounge on the beaches, and explore glamorous Hollywood. Then continue to Santa Monica, where you'll find the “Route 66: End of the Trail” sign at the famous pier.

ARIZONA & GRAND CANYON ROAD TRIP

PHOENIX • SEDONA • GRAND CANYON

Cathedral Rock, Sedona

Hit the road to become one with nature on an incredible journey into the picturesque West.
Start out with a bit of fun in Phoenix before venturing out to America's most awesome natural landscape.

SUGGESTED ITINERARY

6 Days / 5 Nights

Days 1–2: Phoenix The capital of Arizona delivers plenty to do for travelers of all ages. Spend a day hiking Camelback Mountain or visiting the Arizona Science Center. Catch a Diamondbacks baseball game in the afternoon. Looking for some late night fun? Roosevelt Row Arts District (RoRo) impresses in downtown Phoenix with award-winning restaurants, galleries, and live music venues. Or you can head over to Scottsdale, where you'll find all different kinds of places to get your groove on. Spend the next day exploring the Desert Botanical Gardens, the McDowell Sonoran Preserve, and the Phoenix Zoo, or hitting the greens for some golf. After all, this is a golf mecca, so make sure to bring your clubs.

Day 3: Sedona Make the two-hour drive from Phoenix to enjoy a full day in Sedona. Simply put, this is one of the most beautiful places on Earth. Perch yourself somewhere and take in the breathtaking views. Because of them, countless classic Westerns were filmed in the region, so feel the spirit of John Wayne all around you while also catching those vortexes — spots where Earth's energy is increased and where the vibe is just right. Experience the beautiful scenery and art galleries that await. Hike one of the state parks or head to the Verde Valley Wine Trail, where you'll find seven wineries with tasting rooms for every wine-lover's taste. At dusk, gaze up at the incredible red rocks and buttes shining gloriously in the dying sun before enjoying a beautiful dinner along the creek. Expect a seriously good night's sleep — relaxation comes with the territory here.

Days 4–6: Grand Canyon Hit the road for the hour-long trip to the Grand Canyon. This will be quite the epic stop on your trek out west. Drive to the South Rim, winding through the single-lane roads leading to the quaint town by the opening of Grand Canyon National Park. Check into your lodge and get acclimated to the high altitude. Then head out to explore. Most visitors stop by Mather Point, the first look at the canyon, but continue onward for more awe-inspiring sights, like Desert View, where on a clear day you can see for more than 100 miles. Hermit Road is a popular route, providing spectacular views of the desert sunrises and sunsets. Take a helicopter ride over the canyon and spend the next day hiking down below. Don't worry — there are many different trail options, from extremely difficult to mild to a relaxing stroll, so pick the pace you want on this must-do hike at one of the world's must-see spots. Depart feeling refreshed and fulfilled, having basked in the sheer glory of natural wonders that truly deserve the word "grand." Take the scenic way back to Phoenix to drop off your freedom cruiser.

CALIFORNIA

California is so big, so varied, so enduringly symbolic, you could create literally thousands of vacations up and down the coast and barely scrape the surface of what the Golden State has to offer, from San Francisco, to the Pacific Coast, to Los Angeles and Anaheim, to San Diego.

Make it mellow, California-style. Rent a convertible and drive the winding Pacific Coast Highway to Newport or Long Beach, and spend the day soaking up some of the state's famous sunshine. When you're good and golden brown, grab a long board for a surfing lesson off the coast.

California has almost 1,000 miles of coastline, so make it a point to visit great beaches such as:

- Coronado, Ocean Beach, and La Jolla (San Diego)
- El Matador, Malibu's Zuma and Surfrider (LA)
- Rincon and El Capitán State Beach (Santa Barbara)
- Point Lobos State Reserve (Carmel)
- Pismo Beach (San Luis Obispo)

With all that sunshine above, do what the natives do: go golfing (on more than 1,100 courses), roller-blading, hiking, mountain biking, horseback riding, playing tennis, fishing, skiing, snowboarding, camping, surfing, and boating.

- Head to enigmatic LA to follow the stars along the Hollywood Walk of Fame, catch a baseball game at Dodger Stadium, and hang ten in the surf off Malibu.
- Walk, drive, or take a helicopter tour above San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge, probably the most photographed bridge in the world.
- While you're enjoying all that sunshine, pop open a bottle of Chardonnay. California produces over 100 varieties totaling almost 90% of American wine.

If you're looking for something a little, well, magical, you're in luck: California is Theme Park Central. Take the entire family to:

- Disneyland®, a global icon since 1955
- Universal Studios Hollywood™
- SeaWorld® San Diego
- Legoland® California
- Six Flags® Magic Mountain
- Knott's Berry Farm

LAS VEGAS & RENO-TAHOE, NEVADA

Discover the utter enchantment of a Cirque du Soleil spectacle. Rave all night at roaring nightclubs. Get married by an Elvis impersonator. Double down at the world's greatest casinos. Spend your winnings in an unrivaled retail paradise.

The world's most famous playground, Las Vegas is all dazzling showgirls, world-class dining, superstar entertainment, red-hot casino action, and outrageous neon that lights up the night sky. Check in to lavish resort hotels with exquisite accommodations and amazing personal service, posh restaurants and lounges, award-winning spas, on-site gaming, designer shops, and perfect locations.

- At every big resort/hotel casino, dive into poker, blackjack, craps, baccarat, roulette, bingo, video poker, big six, and keno, and play the sports books.
- Pull up a chair at more than a dozen Michelin-starred eateries for incredible meals created by the likes of Thomas Keller, Daniel Boulud, and Jean-Georges Vongerichten.
- Celebrate fabled American landscapes at the Grand Canyon, Lake Mead, and other awesome vistas nearby

Reno – "The Biggest Little City in the World" – is a quieter, less crowded version of Las Vegas, teeming with arts and entertainment, as well as gleaming casinos. The real draw, however, is four-season outdoor sports, from hiking & biking, to kayaking, to golf, to hitting the slopes at North America's largest concentration of ski resorts. The Nevada-California border in the Sierra Nevada is a setting of natural beauty, sunny skies, and abundant snow, tweaked with the excitement of casino gaming at resorts in both South Lake Tahoe and North Lake Tahoe.

Find great ski and snowboard action at:

- Squaw Valley, the area's largest resort and home of the 1960 Winter Olympics, spanning 4,000 skiable acres.
- Northstar, a mellow, family-friendly resort with nearly 2,500 skiable acres and 70 trails, plus a superpipe, halfpipe, and 5 terrain parks.
- Heavenly Mountain Resort, on the south shore of Lake Tahoe, boasts the longest mountain descent in the West, a 5-mile long run.
